Born and raised in north-central West Virginia, Nancy Biggs watched her grandmother quilt, cane chairs, make butter and salt-rising bread, and she developed a lifelong interest in the basic arts and the crafts of the mountains. Over time, she learned to knit and crochet, to spin and dye fibers, to weave, quilt, and paint, among other forms of expression. She enjoys knowing the basic mechanics of a craft, and the elegant simplicity of the finished product.

Nancy is a member of two local quilt guilds and the Allegany Arts Council. She exhibits her art at AaCP, Garrett County Arts Gallery, and the Rocky Gap Resort.
